Meetings of the high-level segment

Security passes

In order to facilitate the entry of ministers and other heads of delegation into the KICH, delegations have been provided with security passes. By showing these passes at the main entrance, each delegation may enter up to four persons directly without having to pass through a security check. Delegations are requested to note that these passes are only for facilitating entry into the KICH, and are not necessary to access the Plenary in the Main Hall.

Seating arrangements for the opening meeting on Monday, 8 December

The secretariat expects a large number of participants and media representatives at the opening meeting of the high-level segment.

As the President of the Conference wishes to start promptly, delegates are kindly requested to take their seats in time.

In view of the large number of participants, the number of places is limited to four for each delegation and to one for intergovernmental organizations, United Nations bodies, specialized agencies and related organizations.

To ensure representative attendance by observers and the media, a limited number of special access cards have been issued to the coordinators of the various NGO constituencies and to the media liaison officer for distribution. Entry to the meeting-room will be on presentation of this special access card and the registration badge.

The opening meeting will also be shown on the screen in Room A and on various monitors throughout the main building and the Event Hall.
