I. OPENING OF THE SESSION

(Agenda item 1)

1. The fourth session of the Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, convened pursuant to Article 7.4 of the Convention and decision 5/CP.3, was opened at the Centro de Exposiciones del Gobierno de la Ciudad de Buenos Aires, Buenos Aires, Argentina, on 2 November 1998, by the President of the Conference at its third session, Mr. Hiroshi Ohki, Representative of the Government of Japan.

A. Statement by the President of the Conference at its third session

(Agenda item 1 (a))

2. The President of the Conference at its third session welcomed all participants to the fourth session of the Conference of the Parties and expressed his appreciation to the Government of Argentina for hosting the Conference and to the City of Buenos Aires for its hospitality. Recalling that the Kyoto Protocol had been adopted by the Conference at its third session after long and strenuous negotiations, he said that the Conference now had to determine whether the political momentum generated at Kyoto could be maintained by preparing a solid foundation for the successful implementation of the Protocol. Progress had been made since the Kyoto Conference on various topics, including issues relating to sinks and mechanisms, and he expressed the hope that further progress could be achieved at Buenos Aires. Humankind's common desire for affluence must not lead to destruction of the environment. There was therefore a need to re-examine existing economic structures and lifestyles. In facing environmental issues, particularly that of global warming, it was essential to ensure the participation of not just experts, bureaucrats or politicians, but of all the citizens of the world.

B. Election of the President of the Conference at its fourth session

(Agenda item 1 (b))

3. At the 1st plenary meeting, on 2 November, on the proposal of the outgoing President, the Conference of the Parties elected by acclamation Ms. María Julia Alsogaray, Secretary of Natural Resources and Sustainable Development of Argentina, as its President.

C. Statement by the President

(Agenda item 1 (c))

4. On assuming office, the President welcomed all participants to the fourth session of the Conference of the Parties, on behalf not only of the Government of Argentina and the Government of the City of Buenos Aires, but also of all the people of Argentina. She stated that Argentina was a nation with a growing environmental awareness and was proud to be the first country in the southern hemisphere to host discussions on the challenge of reversing the consequences of current development models on the planet's climate. Argentina did not belong to the group of countries with historical responsibilities for the climate change problem, but it wish to belong to the group of countries with future responsibilities for commitments leading to a solution of that problem. The adoption of the Kyoto Protocol at the previous session had provided a true starting point for the formulation of action programmes; it was her earnest hope that such an action programme could be established at the current session of the Conference and that Buenos Aires would be remembered as the place where a new momentum in the history of the Convention was achieved. Argentina believed that all Parties to the Convention had very specific responsibilities in the forthcoming negotiations. The role of non-Annex I countries should not be limited to demanding that the industrialized countries should reverse the damage caused by development models that did not take environmental considerations into account. They too had the ethical duty to adopt social, economic and technological models that would lead to sustainable development. It was time to stop arguing about who was to blame for the past and to start taking the steps needed so as not to be blamed for the future.

D. Addresses of welcome

(Agenda item 1 (d))

5. Mr. Fernando de la Rúa, Head of Government of the City of Buenos Aires, welcomed all the participants and said that the City and the people of Buenos Aires were proud to have been chosen to host the fourth session of the Conference of the Parties. They were very conscious of the importance of the Conference and of the significance of the fact that it was being held in the southern hemisphere. Six years had passed since the Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro, when the world community had subscribed to the climate change and other important environmental agreements. The importance of adding an environmental dimension to the agenda of national policies, in the developing as well as the developed world, could no longer be denied. Environmental problems were global problems affecting all countries and all peoples, and thus required a global response from the international community as a whole. The problem of climate change constituted a particularly difficult challenge. Bearing in mind the guiding principle in the Convention of common but differentiated responsibilities, all countries, without compromising their legitimate development objectives, needed to become involved in the process of reducing emissions of greenhouse gases. The involvement of the private sector and the transfer of modern technologies were vital elements in such a process. In conclusion, he wished to emphasize that the decisions adopted at the Conference could influence the future of humankind and have a significant effect on human patterns of behaviour and lifestyles. There was, therefore, a need to approach such decisions with courage and responsibility, and with a sense of equity and justice.

E. Statement by the Executive Secretary

(Agenda item 1 (e))

6. The Executive Secretary said that the fact that the Conference of the Parties was meeting in a developing country underlined the global nature of the problem of climate change, which required the equitable participation of all countries in a global strategy to deal with it. Poor people and poor countries were also extremely vulnerable to the effects of climate change and that too called for an equitable global response. At the current session, there was a need to maintain the political momentum generated at Kyoto by getting down to the task of putting the Kyoto Protocol into effect with mechanisms that would provide flexibility, ensure credibility and promote sustainable development. Conditions had to be created that would attract the necessary ratifications for the Protocol to enter into force. The basic task of the session was to agree on an action plan on all aspects of the Protocol that would set ambitious and politically firm deadlines for agreement. The current session was also an occasion to put new vigour into the implementation of the Convention, no issue being more important than that of transferring technology and know-how to developing countries for their sustainable development. The transfer of technology and financial resources which would support developing countries in lowering their emission trends would largely have to come from business and industry. He expressed the hope that the current session would mark the positive engagement of the private sector in an effective and equitable global strategy.

F. Other statements

7. At the 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, general statements were made by the representatives of Indonesia (on behalf of the Group of 77 and China), Austria (on behalf of the European Community and its member States), Japan and the United States of America.

II. ORGANIZATIONAL MATTERS

(Agenda item 2)

A. Status of ratification of the Convention and the Kyoto Protocol

(Agenda item 2 (a))

8. For its consideration of this sub-item at its 1st plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties had before it an information document on the status of ratification of the Convention and of the Kyoto Protocol (FCCC/CP/1998/INF.5). On the invitation of the President, the Conference of the Parties took note with satisfaction that, as of 2 November 1998, 174 States and one regional economic organization were Parties to the Convention. It also took note that, as of that date, 59 States had signed the Kyoto Protocol and that one of those States, Fiji, had deposited an instrument of ratification. The President, in conclusion, expressed the hope that additional signatures and the instruments of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession required to bring the Kyoto Protocol into force would be received as soon as possible.

9. At its 3rd plenary meeting, on 6 November, the Conference of the Parties was informed that Antigua and Barbuda had deposited its instrument of ratification of the Kyoto Protocol on 3 November, thus bringing the number of ratifications to two.

10. At its 8th plenary meeting, on 14 November, the Conference of the Parties was informed that the United States of America had signed the Kyoto Protocol on 12 November, thus bringing the number of signatory States to 60.

B. Adoption of the rules of procedure

(Agenda item 2 (b))

11. At the 1st plenary meeting, on 2 November, the President informed the Conference of the Parties that, having received a report from the President of the Conference at its third session on his consultations on the draft rules of procedure, she intended to carry out further negotiations on the unresolved issues with a view to finding a solution before the end of the session. On the proposal of the President, the Conference of the Parties decided that, in the meantime, as at previous sessions, the draft rules of procedure as contained in document FCCC/CP/1996/2 should continue to be applied, with the exception of draft rule 42.

12. At the 8th plenary meeting, on 14 November, the President informed the Conference of the Parties that it had not proved possible to make any significant progress on the issue during the course of the session. The Presidency intended, therefore, to undertake further consultations in the inter-sessional period and would report back to the Conference of the Parties at its fifth session. On the proposal of the President, the Conference of the Parties agreed that the draft rules of procedure, with the exception of draft rule 42, should continue to be applied at the next sessions of the subsidiary bodies.

C. Adoption of the agenda

(Agenda item 2 (c))

13. For its consideration of this sub-item at its 1st and 2nd plenary meetings, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties had before it a note by the Executive Secretary containing the provisional agenda and annotations (FCCC/CP/1998/1 and Add.1). Introducing the note, the Executive Secretary proposed amendments to the wording of items 3, 4 (a), 5 (a) (iii) and 5 (a) (iv) of the provisional agenda, which responded to questions raised in informal consultations. In the course of the ensuing discussion, the Executive Secretary also proposed an amendment for the wording of item 4 (e) of the provisional agenda.

14. Item 6 of the provisional agenda, on voluntary commitments by non-Annex I Parties, had been included in the provisional agenda at the request of Argentina under rule 10 (d) of the draft rules of procedure being applied. Statements were made in that connection by Argentina and by 37 other Parties, including one speaking on behalf of the Group of 77 and China, one speaking on behalf of the Alliance of Small Island States, and one speaking on behalf of the European Community and its member States. The President, noting that there was clearly no consensus on the inclusion of item 6 in the agenda of the Conference, proposed that the item should be deleted.

15. At its 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties, on the proposal of the President, approved the provisional agenda contained in document FCCC/CP/1998/1, as amended by the Executive Secretary and with the deletion of item 6. The agenda, as adopted,<sup>2</sup> thus read as follows:

consultations on the matters referred to in the useful debate that had just taken place. She would facilitate informal consultations in response to that interest, consistent with the agenda just adopted, the provisions of the Convention and the practice of the Conference of the Parties, and ensuring full objectivity and transparency.

D. Election of officers other than the President

(Agenda item 2 (d))

17. At its 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, on the proposal of the President, the Conference of the Parties elected by acclamation seven Vice-Presidents and the Rapporteur of the Conference, the Chairman of the Subsidiary Body for Scientific and Technological Advice and the Chairman of the Subsidiary Body for Implementation.

18. At the 3rd plenary meeting, on 6 November, the Conference of the Parties was informed that, pursuant to rule 25 of the draft rules of procedure being applied, Mr. Mohamed Al Sabban (Saudi Arabia) had been replaced by Mr. Nazar Ibrahim Taufiq (Saudi Arabia). E. Admission of organizations as observers

(Agenda item 2 (e))

21. For its consideration of this sub-item at its 1st plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties had before it a note by the secretariat on the admission of organizations as observers (FCCC/CP/1998/14 and Add.1), listing three intergovernmental organizations and 66 non-governmental organizations that had requested to be admitted as observers at the current session. Pursuant to a recommendation by the Bureau of the Conference, which had reviewed the list of applicant organizations, the Conference of the Parties decided to admit those organizations as observers, in addition to organizations already accorded observer status at previous sessions of the Conference of the Parties, on the understanding that any organization in the list with an asterisk against its name would be requested to reapply if it wished to continue to follow the work of the Convention after the fourth session of the Conference of the Parties (see annex III below).

F. Organization of work, including the sessions of the subsidiary bodies

(Agenda item 2 (f))

22. At its 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties, on the proposal of the President, decided on the following allocation of items to the subsidiary bodies:

(a) To the Subsidiary Body for Implementation (SBI):

- Calendar of meetings of Convention bodies 2000-2001 (agenda item 2 (h))

- Financial mechanism (agenda item 4 (b))
- Second review of the adequacy of Article 4.2(a) and (b) (agenda item 4 (d))
- Implementation of Article 4.8 and 4.9 of the Convention (decision 3/CP.3 and Articles 2.3 and 3.14 of the Kyoto Protocol) (agenda item 4 (e))
- Review of information and possible decisions under Article 4.2(f) (agenda item 4 (g))
- Administrative and financial matters (agenda item 6)

(b) To the Subsidiary Body for Scientific and Technological Advice (SBSTA):

- Development and transfer of technologies (decision 13/CP.1) (agenda item 4 (c))
- Other matters relating to implementation (agenda item 4 (h))
- Land-use change and forestry (agenda item 5 (a) (i))
- Impact of single projects on emissions in the commitment period (agenda item 5 (a) (v))

(c) To both the SBI and the SBSTA:

- Activities implemented jointly: review of progress under the pilot phase (decision 5/CP.1) (agenda item 4 (f))
- Article 6 of the Kyoto Protocol (agenda item 5 (a) (ii))
- Article 12 of the Kyoto Protocol (agenda item 5 (a) (iii))
- Article 17 of the Kyoto Protocol (agenda item 5 (a) (iv))

- Matters related to decision 1/CP.3, paragraph 6: (agenda item 5 (b)) preparations for the first session of the Conference of the Parties serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Protocol

23. With regard to agenda item 4 (e), it was agreed, at the suggestion of one Party, that the Chairmen of the two subsidiary bodies should determine whether or not there was a need for that item to be considered by the SBSTA as well as by the SBI.

24. The subsidiary bodies were requested to develop draft decisions and/or conclusions on the items referred to them, with a view to their adoption by the Conference of the Parties by 11 November at the latest. They should thus conclude their work by the evening of 10 November. Any items left unresolved by the subsidiary bodies would be referred to the President for consultations with ministers and other heads of delegation during the high-level segment, to be held on 12 and 13 November. With regard to the general debate to be held during the high-level segment, it was agreed that the list of speakers should be officially closed at 18.00 hours on Wednesday, 4 November, and that all representatives should be limited to five minutes of speaking time.

25. At the 5th plenary meeting, on 11 November, after the Chairmen of the SBSTA and the SBI had reported on the outcome of the discussions in their respective bodies on the items allocated to them, the President, noting that a number of issues remained outstanding, informed the Conference of the Parties that she intended to convene a representative group of "friends of the President" at the ministerial level, to which the entire Bureau would also be invited, in order to develop a strategy on how to deal with the outstanding issues.

G. Participation in contact groups

(Agenda item 2 (g))

26. In opening this sub-item at the 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, the President recalled that the SBI at its eighth session had requested the secretariat to prepare a draft decision on the modalities for the participation of representatives of NGOs in contact groups (FCCC/CP/1998/6, para. 83). In response to that request the secretariat had prepared a draft text originally circulated under the symbol FCCC/CP/1998/L.1, which was subsequently revised in the light of further consultations and was now before the Conference under the symbol FCCC/CP/1998/L.1/Rev.1. She drew attention to certain understandings underlying the proposed decision, namely, that it addressed the participation of IGOs as well as NGOs; that, in general, the nature of their participation was attendance without the right to make interventions; that, if there were space limitations in the meeting rooms, the Chairs of the contact groups reserved the right to request IGOs and NGOs to limit their participation; and, lastly, that participation in negotiations was limited to Parties.

27. After the Executive Secretary had introduced the revised text in document FCCC/CP/1998/L.1/Rev.1, statements were made by representatives of five Parties, including one speaking on behalf of the European Community and its member States. Commenting on those statements, the Executive Secretary confirmed that the draft decision sought to respond to the political will of the Parties to broaden access to the work of the Conference of the Parties and its subsidiary bodies. He acknowledged that the draft dealt with a matter that was germane to the draft rules of procedure, as applied, and suggested that, when those draft rules came to be considered, it might be appropriate to amend them so as to reflect the substance of the proposed decision.

28. At the 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties adopted decision 18/CP.4 entitled "Attendance of intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations at contact groups." For the text of this decision, see Part Two, section I, of this report.

H. Calendar of meetings of Convention bodies 2000-2001

(Agenda item 2 (h))

29. This sub-item was referred to the SBI by the Conference of the Parties at its 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November (see paragraph 22 above). Unable to reach agreement on a recommendation to the Conference of the Parties, the SBI decided to forward a draft decision prepared by the Chairman of the SBI (FCCC/CP/1998/L.14) to the plenary of the Conference for further consideration (see paragraph 47 below). At the 8th plenary meeting, on 14 November, the President informed the Conference of the Parties that agreement had been reached in informal consultations on draft decision FCCC/CP/1998/L.14, with one amendment.

30. At the same meeting, the Conference of the Parties adopted decision 19/CP.4 entitled "Calendar of meetings of Convention bodies 2000-2001", on the understanding that the secretariat would attempt to identify an alternative date for the second sessional period in the year 2000, taking into account the availability of facilities and conference services. For the text of this decision, see Part Two, section I, of this report.

I. Date and venue of the fifth session of the Conference of the Parties

(Agenda item 2 (i))

31. This item was considered by the Conference of the Parties at its 5th and 8th plenary meetings, on 11 and 14 November. At the 5th plenary meeting, the Executive Secretary confirmed that an offer to host the fifth session of the Conference of the Parties had been received from the Government of Jordan. There were, however, a number of organizational and financial issues that needed to be resolved before a final decision could be taken compatible with General Assembly resolution 40/243 of 18 December 1985. It was his hope that those issues could be overcome in time for a decision to be taken at the present session, but there might be a need for some flexibility in that regard.

32. At the 8th plenary meeting, on 14 November, after hearing a statement by the representative of Jordan, the Conference of the Parties, on the proposal of the President, requested the Executive Secretary to continue consultations with the Government of Jordan and to report to the President of the Conference, not later than 11 December 1998, on whether the fifth session of the Conference of the Parties could be held in Amman, Jordan, in conformity with General Assembly resolution 40/243.

J. Adoption of the report on credentials

III. REPORTS OF SUBSIDIARY BODIES

(Agenda item 3)

A. Report of the Subsidiary Body for Scientific and Technological Advice

(Agenda item 3 (a))

40. At its 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties, having heard a report on the work of the SBSTA from its Chairman, took note with appreciation of the report of the SBSTA on its eighth session.<sup>3</sup>

41. At the 3rd plenary meeting, on 6 November, the Chairman of the SBSTA reported to the Conference of the Parties on the progress made in the SBSTA on agenda items 4 (c), 4 (h) (i), 4 (h) (ii), 5 (a) (i) and 5 (a) (v), which had been referred to the SBSTA, and on agenda items 4 (f), 5 (a) (ii) (iii) and (iv), and 5 (b), which had been referred jointly to the SBSTA and the SBI. Discussions were still continuing on all those items.

42. At the 5th plenary meeting, on 11 November, the Chairman of the SBSTA reported to the Conference of the Parties on the work of its ninth session. On agenda items 4 (c), 4 (h), 5 (a) (i) and 5 (a) (v), referred solely to the SBSTA, the SBSTA had recommended draft decisions for adoption by the Conference of the Parties.<sup>4</sup> In the case of the draft decision on agenda item 4 (c) (FCCC/CP/1998/L.16), however, two delegations had raised objections when the text was approved in the SBSTA, and that draft decision would therefore need further consideration before it could be adopted by the Conference of the Parties. With regard to the items referred jointly to the SBSTA and the SBI (agenda items 4 (f), 5 (a) (ii-) - (iv) and 5 (b)), despite intensive consultations it had not proved possible to reach final agreement on the draft decisions under discussion. Those drafts, forwarded to the Conference of the Parties in documents FCCC/CP/1998/CRP.2, CRP.3 and CRP.4, would therefore need further consideration before they could be adopted by the Conference of the Parties. For the action taken by the Conference of the Parties on the above at its 5th plenary meeting, see paragraph 25 above and paragraphs 72, 75 and 80 below. (For the action taken by the Conference of the Parties at its 8th plenary meeting on the outstanding items referred to it by the SBSTA, see paragraphs 62, 68, 77 and 82 below.)

43. At the same meeting, the Chairman of the SBSTA informed the Conference of the Parties that a Party had raised the issue of the relationship between efforts to protect the stratospheric ozone layer and efforts to safeguard the global climate system, and issues related to hydrofluorocarbons and perfluorocarbons. The SBSTA had considered that issue under item 4 of its agenda, "Other matters", and had recommended a draft decision in document FCCC/CP/1998/L.7 for adoption by the Conference of the Parties.

44. At its 5th plenary meeting, on 11 November, the Conference of the Parties took note of the oral report of the Chairman of the SBSTA on the work of its ninth session and adopted decision 13/CP.4 entitled, "Relationship between efforts to protect the stratospheric ozone layer and efforts to safeguard the global climate system: issues related to hydrofluorocarbons and perfluorocarbons." For the text of this decision, see Part Two, section I, of this report.

B. Report of the Subsidiary Body for Implementation

(Agenda item 3 (b))

45. At its 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Conference of the Parties, having heard a report on the work of the SBI from its Chairman, took note with appreciation of the report of the SBI on its eighth session (see FCCC/SBI/1998/6).<sup>5</sup>

46. At the 3rd plenary meeting, on 6 November, the Chairman of the SBI reported to the Conference of the Parties on the progress made in the SBI on agenda items 2 (h), 4 (a), 4 (b), 4 (d), 4 (e), 4 (g) and 6, which had been allocated to the SBI. Discussions were continuing on all those items, with the exception of sub-item 4 (g), Review of information and possible decisions under Article 4.2(f), in respect of which the SBI had agreed to recommend a draft decision (FCCC/CP/1998/L.2) for adoption by the Conference of the Parties. For the action taken by the Conference of the Parties on that sub-item, see paragraph 70 below.

47. At the 5th plenary meeting, on 11 November, the Chairman of the SBI reported to the Conference of the Parties on the work of its ninth session. Of the items allocated to the SBI, the Conference of the Parties had already taken action on a recommendation of the SBI on agenda item 4 (g) (see paragraph 70 below). Draft decisions had been prepared on agenda items 2 (h), 4 (a) (i), 4 (a) (ii), 4 (b), 4 (d), 4 (e) and 6,<sup>6</sup> but despite intensive consultations it had not proved possible to reach final agreement on those draft decisions, with the exception of the draft decision on agenda item 6 (FCCC/CP/1998/L.13), which the SBI had recommended for adoption by the Conference of the Parties. The SBI had therefore decided to forward the draft decisions on the outstanding items to the plenary of the Conference for further consideration. In the case of agenda item 4 (d), in addition to the draft decision that he had prepared as Chairman (FCCC/CP/1998/L.12), the SBI had also decided to forward four alternative drafts prepared, respectively, by the Group of 77 and China (FCCC/CP/1998/MISC.6/Add.2/Rev.1), Australia, Austria, on behalf of the European Community and its member States, and the United States of America (FCCC/CP/1998/MISC.6/Add.3). For the action taken by the Conference of the Parties on the above at the 5th plenary meeting, see paragraph 25 above and paragraph 84 below. (For the action taken by the Conference of the Parties at its 8th plenary meeting on the outstanding items referred to it by the SBI, see paragraph 32 above and paragraphs 54, 56, 58, 60, 64, 66, 68, 77 and 82 below.)

C. Report of the Ad Hoc Group on Article 13

(Agenda item 3 (c))

49. At the 2nd plenary meeting, on 2 November, the Chairman of the Ad Hoc Group on Article 13 reported to the Conference of the Parties on the outcome of the work of the Group and introduced the report of the Group on its sixth and final session (FCCC/AG13/1998/2). The Group had been able to reach agreement on the entire text of the multilateral consultative process, set out in annex II to that report, with the exception of two matters contained in square brackets in paragraphs 8 and 9 of that text. The two unresolved issues related to the number of members of the Multilateral Consultative Committee and the criteria for designating members to the Committee. Should it prove possible to resolve those two issues in the course of the session and proceed to adopt the multilateral consultative process, Parties would need to nominate experts to be designated by the Conference of the Parties as members of the Committee for its first period of operation. Should it not prove possible, he would suggest that the Conference of the Parties could approve the draft text of the multilateral consultative process, with the exception of the two matters still in square brackets; refer the outstanding matters to the next session of the Conference, with a view to the adoption of the process at that session; and invite the President to designate a Vice-President to conduct consultations on those matters in the inter-sessional period.

50. At the same meeting, the Conference of the Parties took note with appreciation of the report of the Ad Hoc Group on Article 13 on its sixth session (FCCC/AG13/1998/2). The President, thanking the Chairman of the Ad Hoc Group for his dedicated leadership, indicated that she would consult with members of the Bureau on how best to proceed with consultations on the outstanding issues.

51. At the 3rd plenary meeting, on 6 November, the Chairman of the Ad Hoc Group, who had been requested by the Bureau of the Conference to conduct the consultations referred to in paragraph 49 above, informed the Conference of the Parties that in those consultations a consensus had been reached on a draft decision on the multilateral consultative process, which was before the Conference in document FCCC/CP/1998/L.3.

52. At the same meeting, the Conference of the Parties, on the proposal of the President, adopted decision 10/CP.4 entitled "Multilateral consultative process". For the text of this decision, see Part Two, section I, of this report.

At the 8th plenary meeting, on 14 November, the President informed the Conference of the Parties that agreement had been reached in informal consultations on draft decision FCCC/CP/1998/L.10.

She believed that the Conference of the Parties should welcome the opportunity to develop joint and harmonized approaches to issues of mutual concern, with a view to making implementation activities and institutional arrangements under the Biological Diversity and Climate Change Conventions mutually supportive. A statement was made by the representative of the secretariat of the Convention on Biological Diversity.

92. At the same meeting, on the proposal of the President, the Conference of the Parties decided that issues of mutual concern to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change and the Convention on Biological Diversity should be taken up by the subsidiary bodies at their tenth sessions. The Chairmen of the subsidiary bodies, in consultation with the rest of the Bureau, should determine the allocation of those issues between the two subsidiary bodies.

IX. NATURAL DISASTER IN CENTRAL AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN

93. At the 3rd plenary meeting, on 6 November, the President, referring to the catastrophic damage caused by Hurricane Mitch in Central America and the Caribbean, requested the representatives of the countries concerned to convey to their governments and peoples, on the part of the Government of Argentina and of all the participants in the Conference, an expression of their deepest sympathy and their solidarity with all those who had suffered so tragically in one of the worst natural disasters of recent times. The Executive Secretary, on behalf of the Convention secretariat, said that he and his colleagues wished to associate themselves with that expression of sympathy and solidarity. The representative of El Salvador, speaking on behalf of the countries concerned, thanked the Government of Argentina and all the participants in the Conference for the expression of their solidarity with the victims of the disaster and stressed the urgent need for aid from the international community to respond to their needs. On the proposal of the representative of Indonesia, speaking on behalf of the Group of 77 and China, the Conference of the Parties observed a minute's silence in tribute to the victims of the disaster.

94. At the 8th plenary meeting, on 14 November, the President introduced a draft resolution expressing solidarity with Central America (FCCC/CP/1998/L.17), which she had submitted on the basis of informal consultations.

Annex I

Address by the President of the Republic of Argentina and message from the Secretary-General of the United Nations under agenda item 7 (a)

I. Address by the President of the Republic of Argentina

The Republic of Argentina is deeply honoured to host this world meeting with representatives from all over the world and expresses through its President its warmest greetings and best wishes. The work accomplished so far demonstrates the crucial importance of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change. The Republic of Argentina is honoured to have signed this Convention, and the Kyoto Protocol is currently in the process of ratification in the National Congress, having already had the approval of the Senate.

As I maintained at the Earth Summit held in Rio de Janeiro in 1992, our aim is to eliminate once and for all the false choice between economic growth and environmental protection. The Argentine economy has experienced an accumulative growth rate of 52 per cent since 1990, owing to the opening up and modernization of the economy and the strength of the fiscal and monetary institutions of our country. Even in the context of the international financial crisis unleashed in July 1997, Argentina has continued to grow and has permanently increased the levels of its reserves and financial deposits. The flow of direct foreign investments has also increased considerably. These investments are currently growing at a rate of approximately US$ 800 million per month, and an investment of over US$ 70 billion is expected for the period 1998 to 2002. Argentina has achieved these successes after ten years of effort, with a development process that is moving to cleaner options. During this decade, in which the economy has grown at an average annual accumulative rate of 6 per cent, the increase in per capita greenhouse gas emissions has been less than 1 per cent throughout the period.

In the next two years, Argentina will become the cleanest producer of electricity in the world. By the year 2000, base-load power generation capacity will have been converted to combined-cycle technology, with a thermal efficiency of over 55 per cent. This is the result of investments of US$ 2 billion already completed or at an advanced stage of execution. As a consequence of these changes, the average carbon intensity of thermal power generation in Argentina will be lower than in any other country in the world.

We are constantly striving to achieve the goals of economic growth and integration into the global economy, as a country concerned both with protecting the environment and remaining competitive. This is not an aspiration that has emerged purely from a sense of moral duty; we firmly believe that this is the only way to achieve sustainable growth in face of the globalization of the world economy. That is why I stress that the choice between economic growth and environmental protection is a false one, and that the only way of offering a secure prospect of sustained and integrated progress for all mankind is to link them together continually. This is our commitment to the world of today and to the future generations: we want to preserve the planet and, at the same time, offer a prospect of economic growth, progress and hope for all.

The planet is our common home and to preserve it is the responsibility of us all. We cannot ignore the warning signals that nature has given us this very year in which this Climate Change Conference is taking place. The planet, painfully, is issuing a warning call to all mankind. I must also express the deep sorrow we feel for our brothers and sisters of Central America who have been affected by terrible hurricanes and their grievous consequences. Climate catastrophes such as floods, tornadoes, droughts and forest fires that cause thousands of deaths and leave hundreds of thousands of people homeless are without doubt the responsibility of each and every country, without any distinction whatsoever. Clean development is the only path to sustainable growth under the conditions imposed today by the globalization of the world economy. I should like to point out here, unequivocally, that the agricultural subsidies of developed countries stimulate increases in carbon emissions. The systematic use of subsidies of this kind causes severe environmental damage. A strategy of clean development is the best and most effective weapon that emerging countries can use against the non-tariff-barrier protectionism of developed countries, which is the most insidious form of protectionism. We are convinced that in the years to come this is the position that the world community will adopt, without any differentiation of sectors.

At this moment in the history of mankind, with the birth of universalism in practical, political and institutional terms, it is not only the most highly developed countries that can contribute to the creation of a new world order. We emerging countries also share the responsibility of assuming our own initiatives to meet and respond to each and every challenge of the twenty-first century that is about to dawn. Argentina does not wish to make this effort outside the system. We want to establish targets within the framework of the Convention. We have not been able to do so as yet, but we shall continue to work with a view to doing so at the fifth session of the Conference of the Parties. In the meantime, we shall define our targets for achieving growth and at the same time a reduction in carbon dioxide emissions. These targets will be defined with the participation of every sector of society through a broad debate at the national level, and at the next session of the Conference of the Parties we shall announce our commitment for the period 2008 to 2012.

We shall continue working to ensure that countries like the Republic of Argentina, which wish to commit themselves to their own targets, are able to participate in all the mechanisms of the system. This implies the creation of a new way forward under the Convention, which would allow countries to participate in all the mechanisms of the Convention and of the Kyoto Protocol. Argentina assumes this commitment and will honour that responsibility towards its brother nations of the world. As Lisandro de la Torre, one of the leading Argentinian politicians of the twentieth century, said: "Those who know where they are going and follow the straight path will not have to travel it alone for long."

II. Message from the Secretary-General of the United Nations<sup>a</sup>

It gives me great pleasure to convey my warmest greetings to all who have gathered from around the world to continue this historic process. I would like first to express my gratitude to His Excellency President Carlos Menem and the people of Argentina for hosting this conference, which demonstrates yet again their abiding commitment to the United Nations and to human well-being in general. I would also like to salute all the other Heads of State or Government, distinguished delegates, colleagues from the United Nations system and other participants for coming together, in a spirit of partnership, to continue to this vital work, which means so much to the world's people.

Your adoption of the Kyoto Protocol at last year's Conference of the Parties was a landmark event. By agreeing to legally binding targets for emissions, you confirmed your commitment to sustainable development. This is an impressive achievement, and you are to be congratulated for the hard work and political courage that made it possible.

The Kyoto Protocol is the most far-reaching agreement on environment and sustainable development ever adopted. Drawing on the best available science, and on new concepts in international law and diplomacy such as the precautionary principle, the Protocol offers a new, more sustainable path for industrial economies. Its adoption demonstrates just how far the community of nations has come in accepting responsibility for its shared stewardship of the earth. The next step is to translate this written agreement into reality by signing and ratifying it quickly, so that it enters into force within two or three years.

Here in Buenos Aires, you have launched the post-Kyoto process, a process as significant and challenging as those that produced the Protocol and Convention. Our destination may be agreed, but now you must determine the best way to get us there.

We need to ensure that emission reductions are cost-effective while ensuring that domestic action remains paramount. We must also figure out the best way to transfer climate-friendly technologies to developing countries.

We need much more scientific research, data collection, training and public outreach. And we need to expand and strengthen the Convention's mechanisms for sharing information and reporting on national actions and programmes.

We all know that, despite the agreement at Kyoto, countries still hold differing perspectives on the way forward. I am confident that the political will exists to find common ground and move forward. But just as the Earth Summit set a compelling deadline for the adoption of the Convention, and the Berlin Mandate set a time limit for finalizing the Protocol, so too there must now be a convincing new time-frame for keeping the process on track over the next two or three years. The Kyoto Protocol must start operating as quickly as possible.

Deadlines not only concentrate the minds of governments, they also give essential signals to civil society; If consumers are convinced that the rules of the game are about to change, they will start taking the myriad small decisions that, when added together, can have a major impact on emissions.

Convincing evidence of governments' commitment to move forward quickly will also help to unleash the floodgates of industrial creativity. Experience shows that business responds rapidly and positively to incentives and pressures, from the globalization of markets to financial volatility or unexpected technological revolutions. Indeed, I am convinced that the business sector will develop climate-friendly technologies and services faster than many now believe possible.

The United Nations system will continue to contribute to the economic transformation implied by efforts to reduce greenhouse gases. The Convention secretariat that supports your deliberations and decisions has proven itself an effective partner. The United Nations Environment Programme and the World Meteorological Organization started us on this road back in 1988 by creating the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change; they too will continue to provide the support you need.

The United Nations Development Programme is working at the national level to help countries move towards sustainable energy, forestry and agricultural systems. The Global Environment Facility and the World Bank channel financial support to essential projects. UNITAR provides technical training UNIDO industrial expertise and UNCTAD new ideas on emissions trading. The diversity of mandates and expertise of these and other United Nations bodies will remain at your service, and I invite you to provide the necessary guidance to their activities.

We must not underestimate the high stakes of this meeting. The global response to climate change has been impressive but is still in its infancy. Many challenges lie ahead, and success here in Buenos Aires will also contribute to our efforts to protect biodiversity, combat desertification, preserve the ozone layer and alleviate poverty. In that hopeful spirit, I wish you great success with these international deliberations and with your efforts back home in your own countries.
